

The People's Priorities

Kevin Hurley - Police and Crime Commissioner for Surrey

The people of Surrey have told me that they want:

A Zero Tolerance Policing Approach - a relentless focus on those who blight our lives: anti-social louts, violent bullies, burglars and those who deal drugs to our young people. We will seize the profits of their crime.

More Visible Street Policing - reduce expenditure on back office roles and use the ill-gotten gains of criminals to pay for patrol officers.

To Put Victims at the Centre of the Criminal Justice System - ensure that victims are given a quality service from reporting a crime to giving evidence. The professionals in the Courts and Police work for you, sometimes they forget.

The Opportunity to have a Greater Say in how Your Streets are Policed – you asked and we will set up local policing boards to bring decision making closer to neighbourhoods. You will be able to participate and have your views heard.

To Protect Your Local Policing - work with Police Chiefs to maintain the morale and ethos of service of your officers by supporting them against unreasonable criticism and ensuring their voice is heard. We cannot expect them to take on the criminals unless we back them.

To be Uncompromising in the Standards You Expect from Your Police - With public support comes an expectation that your police deliver a quality service. We expect the Chiefs to inspire their officers and unlock their passion to deliver a professional, courteous and positive approach to policing. You pay for it, you have a right to expect it.
